The Support Standard Package can be purchased in either 12 or 36-month terms, please find the pricing within Appendix C of this document.

The Support Plus Package can only be purchased for a maximum of five years (60 months) from receipt of the System by the Customer, after which only Support Standard can be purchased until the Simulator System or Software End-of-Life Date. The Support Plus Package must be purchased consecutively with no gaps between end and start date of terms with a 60-day grace period between where the renewal will start retrospectively from the end date of the previous term. The Support Plus plan can be purchased in 12 or 36-month terms but cannot exceed the maximum Support Plus warrantable Package term.

Extended Support Standard plans past the End-of-Life date of a System, or Support Plus Plans past the maximum term are negotiable with your Business Development Manager but are subject to Business approval on a case-by-case basis.

Initial System Support Plus Package

Your Simulator System is covered by a Support Plus package, in either a 12 or 36-month term, from the date of receipt of the Simulator System and is included as part of the purchase price. The Support Plus package includes hardware warranty for the System and its associated peripherals meaning any manufacturing defects or faults found during this initial warranty period are covered by Intelligent Ultrasound terms of warranty, which can be found in Appendix A and B.

This Hardware warranty does not cover accidental damage, wear, and tear during set up or use nor is loss or theft of the Simulator System covered. If damage is noticed upon receipt of the System delivery, then notification to an Intelligent Ultrasound Group Plc representative must be made immediately.

Onsite Support (North America and UK Only) with Support Plus Plans

In extreme circumstances where remote assistance cannot resolve the issue working with onsite personnel then on a case-by-case basis onsite assistance can be provided if all other support methods have been exhausted. If access to the Customer site to provide onsite Support to the Simulator System will incur excessive costs, then the Customer may be liable for some or all of these costs to provide this level of Support.

Support Frequently Asked Questions

Statutory Rights

Your Statutory Rights will not be affected when you purchase a support Plan from Intelligent Ultrasound and its Subsidiaries.

How many systems are covered by support?

All of our Support plans apply on a per system basis and the more systems you're renewing support for, the cheaper it will be per system on the plan purchased.

How is the per System discount applied?

When you are renewing, the discount is applied for the number of Systems regardless of product family or plan type that are on the renewal quote. For example, if you were renewing for three systems consisting of a BodyWorks, ScanTrainer and a NeedleTrainer then you would be valid for the 3-4 system breakpoint discount. However, if you were to own more systems and do not include them on the renewal agreement then they will not contribute to the discount breakpoints. We do have the ability to facilitate a consolidation of the renewal dates so all systems owned can renew at the same time and contribute to the discount breakpoint.

How do I purchase an extended Support Plan?

While highly recommended, an extended Support Plan does not have to be taken out with your Simulator System at the point of purchase. An extended Support Plan can be purchased at any time prior to the expiry date of the included plan with the Simulator System purchase or after the previous term has ended (See "When do I renew my Support Plus Plan?"), however, to prevent delay in resolutions through the provision of support when issues arise, the Support Plan is recommended to not be allowed to expire.

Any breaks in your Support Plan will require renewal prior to continuation of Telephone and Online Remote Diagnostics. This does not affect email-based Helpdesk Ticketing and a Support Standard Plan can be purchased any time, even after lapse of coverage, until the System End-of-Life date.

You will be notified up to 90-days before expiry of either Support Plans or we can be contacted at any time to discuss your Simulator System Support Plan options.

You can reach out to our Renewals Team to request renewal at renew@intelligentultrasound.com

When do I renew my Support Plus Plan?

Extended Support Plus Plans must not have any gaps in the term coverage and will have a 60-day grace period between expiry of the previous term and activation of the next termed coverage. Term coverage for Support Plus Plans will always be retroactively start dated from the date of the previous term's expiry.

Any gap in the Support Plus term coverage, meaning past the 60-day grace period, will be subject to review and may not be accepted for renewal depending on the length of time the gap in coverage extends for. Not renewing the Support Plus Plan and opting for the Support Standard Plan does not constitute a continuation of coverage meaning you cannot subsequently opt to "upgrade" back to the Support Plus Plan except within the initial 60-day grace period of the previous expiry.

You can reach out to our Renewals Team to request renewal at renew@intelligentultrasound.com

What is not covered by the Support Plus Plan?

Any accidental damage caused by the user, general wear and tear to the simulator, loss or theft are not covered. Intelligent Ultrasound reserves the right to ask for physical or photographic evidence to help determine the nature and cause of any damage before deciding the appropriate course of action. Should you have any further questions please ask your aligned Intelligent Ultrasound representative.

What are examples of Wear and Tear?

Wear and Tear constitutes the long-term extended use of an item that contributes to a failure of a peripheral without following on-screen instructions or as per the training on the Simulator at purchase. However, each component failure reported is taken very seriously and reviewed by our engineers for the best course of action.

How is Support provisioned in the Support Plans?

Our Support plans provide access to our highly rated Support team via Telephone or via our online Support Portal at <https://intelligentultrasound.com/support>. Our Telephone helpdesks are available in United Kingdom and North America during United Kingdom (UTC/BST) or North America East Coast (EDT/EST) working hours, 9am-5pm inclusive. The Customer and Product Support Representatives are available for advice and to help resolve issues found with the System. Out of hours support is possible by request but will be organised and agreed on a case-by-case basis but where the request is outside of the stated working hours, this may be a chargeable support interaction.

What is "Online Remote Diagnostics"?

Included on all our Simulator Systems is an industry trusted remote assistance application that provides the ability for our Customer and Product Support Representatives to remotely access the system and provide direct issue resolution, an augmented reality guidance on the Simulator uses as well as remotely update the Simulator System Software if automatic updates are not possible. Further details on the Online Remote Diagnostics are available at request to your Sales Representative at any time pre- or post-purchase of the Simulator System.

Is shipping for a Warranty claim included in the Support Plus Plan?

If your system or part of your system is sent back to us and a fault is found that is covered under the warranty, Intelligent Ultrasound will cover all transportation costs. If the fault is not covered under the warranty, Intelligent Ultrasound reserves the right to charge for related transportation costs.

What Software updates are included with my Support Plan?

Your Support Standard or Plus Plans provide your Simulator System with minor release, minor feature, bug and security fixes within the Simulator Software version purchased at the point of sale; for instance, v4.1 and v4.2 will be included with your purchase of a v4.x Simulator system.

Major feature and module releases are not included with your Support Plan and may be subject to one time purchase fee; for instance, v3.x to v4.x would not be included but is not limited to this type of version numbering.

If you would like to know about whether you have access to an announced release, please feel free to contact Support or your aligned Business Development Manager for assistance and/or clarification.
